NAIT Next in Trades Opportunities

NAIT recognizes that Indigenous peoples, Black and racialized communities, newcomers, women, and 2SLGBTQIA+ communities are underrepresented in the trades. Next in Trades is an event series that aims to encourage and empower people from all backgrounds and abilities to explore careers in the skilled trades industry.

The Next in Trades events will provide participants (16 years and older) with an opportunity for hands-on learning in various career paths in fields like construction, manufacturing, culinary arts, and more. Attendees will gain valuable insights into the skilled trades and discover the various career opportunities available in Alberta.

• Plumber • Electrician • Instrumentation • Cabinetmaker • Industrial Mechanic (Millwright) • Carpenter • Machinist/Computer Numerical Control (CNC) Technician • Insulator • Glazier • Culinary Arts/Baking and Pastry Arts/Professional Meat cutting and Merchandising

Registration for participants is open. I have attached an email for you to share with your network inviting anyone you believe would like to learn more about the trades.

Next in Trades Events:

The future of skilled trades includes a diverse and inclusive workplace – one that provides equal opportunities for all people. The events aim to create a supportive environment to explore the trades. Participants will take part in four 45-minute workshops throughout the day.

March 18, 2023

In addition to workshops, we will have mentors and a panel discussion centering on the lived experiences of Indigenous peoples, Black and racialized communities, Newcomers, and Refugees.

March 25, 2023

In addition to workshops, we will have mentors and a panel discussion centering on the lived experiences of the 2SLGBTQIA+ communities.
